Beebe was a brother of Miss Julia Fraser, president of the Synodical Home Missionary Society of the Presbyterian church. Their father was a pioneer in this State, organizing many of the churches which have since developed into important congregations. Beebe is survived by a wife, Mrs. Ella M. Beebe, and three children: Mrs. Mabel Beebe of Los Angeles; Mrs. Millie Mulligan of this city; and Mrs. Leonard L. Greenwell of San Francisco.

Accumulating Freight and Accumulating Water

John Smith lives in Richmond. He wishes to ship a case of goods to the East. Bill Jones lives in Alameda. He also desires to send a box of merchandise to the Atlantic Coast.

Both have their freight delivered to the local freight depot. Freight of this class is assembled in the freight storage warehouse, and a carload is made up. It is then dispatched to its destination via various distributing centers.

Now, water is gathered, stored and dispatched in much the same way.

During the rainy season hundreds of small creeks and streams are diverted into larger ones, and are finally stored in storage reservoirs such as Lake San Leandro and others.

These "l. c. l. shipments," as we might call them, are assembled into one large shipment and pumped when needed, to the distribution reservoirs for final distribution to you.

The cost of bringing these small streams of water together (transporting and holding them in storage) is an item entering into the water rate that should not be overlooked.

REP. ELSTON DENIES PEACE TREATY DEAD

BERKELEY, Nov. 24.—That in his belief the peace treaty and league of nations are not "dead," but will be reconsidered at the next session of Congress was the declaration today of Congressman J. Arthur Elston, who just returned from Washington, D. C.

That concessions must be made by both President Wilson and the Senate before the treaty can be passed, however, Elston says is evident.

COMPROMISE NECESSARY

"There is room for concessions on both sides," he declared. "Both the President and Senate should recede from the stand of personalities and obstinacy taken by them. In my mind a great part of the differences which led to the rejection of the treaty are made up principally of personal animosities.

"They have built up a wall of personal enmities which must be broken down before anything can be accomplished. The differences in question appear more theoretical than real.

Hopes of the treaty for a presidential respite from war-time prohibition during the holiday season will come to naught in the opinion of Congressman Elston. "I have nothing official to offer," he said.

"But general opinion in Washington looks for no hiatus from the prohibition regulations in the time intervening before the constitutional amendment goes into effect. The whole matter is in the hands of the Supreme Court."

HOPES FOR OIL LAW

That the oil leasing measure will probably become a law during the next session of Congress was the hope held out by the congressman.

"We expect an agreement between the House and the Senate conferring which will pass the bill," he said.

Congressman Elston was in Washington the latter part of the week to be present at the opening of the new session. He is at the L. J. Le Conte home 2501 Piedmont avenue, during his stay in Berkeley.

TWENTY-EIGHT DANCERS LOSE LIVES IN FIRE

VILLA PLATTE, La., Nov. 24.—With all persons in the building accounted for, the complete list today of those who lost their lives in the dance hall fire here Saturday night was announced as 28.

About 300 persons were guests at a dance on the second floor of a frame building and in addition to the heavy death toll scores were badly burned or seriously hurt in the mad rush to escape through the one narrow exit.

Of the dead, 14 were crushed when the crowd rushed for the cutting off of the escape of others. The remaining 14 were caught on the second floor.

The fire was said to have started from the explosion of an oil stove on which a 12-year-old boy was making coffee in the store-room beneath the dancers.

CALL ELECTION TO STAVE OFF WATER FIGHT

The board of supervisors took another step toward the threatened war between the farmers of Eden township and the Eastbay Water company today when a resolution was passed ordering the holding of an election to vote on the formation of a water district December 25.

The backers of the plan for a water district for Eden township, who presented a petition containing 152 names, declared the water company is taking water from its town wells at Roberts Landing, which drains the underground supply and threatens the life of the farmers' supply for irrigation. The company contends its use of the water does not affect adjacent land owners. It is declared that if necessary suits will be instituted against the company as soon as the district is legally formed. The territory involved includes all of Eden township except incorporated cities, there being two of these, Hayward and San Leandro.

The board voted to sell at auction next Monday the building at 336 Fourth street which was partially destroyed by fire a few days ago and which has been ordered removed by the city. The building is a part of the property purchased by the county to be used as an approach to the proposed $1,800,000 estuary bridge across Webster street.

The contract for installing a pumping plant for a water supply at the Arroyo sanitarium at Livermore was awarded to the California Hydraulic Engineer and Supply company at $2780.

The salary of Dr. Chesley Bush, medical director at Arroyo, was increased from $250 a month and maintenance to $265 a month.

GERMANS AGAIN TOLD COST OF LASTING PEACE

PARIS, Nov. 24.—The Supreme Council today decided to send the German delegation here a note in reply to the one submitted by the Germans informing the council of the departure for Berlin of the plenipotentiaries sent in connection with the protocol guaranteeing the carrying out of the armistice terms with Germany. It has been informed she will have to sign before the peace treaty is put into effect.

The note's contents, it was announced, will be made public tomorrow.

The council received advice from Sir George Clerk, its representative in the negotiations with Hungary, that he would leave Budapest this evening.

It was announced that the German and Polish plenipotentiaries discussing the question of Danzig would hold meetings in Paris.

Hundred Reds Reach U. S. Daily, is Claim

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24.—The house immigration committee, which is studying conditions here to prepare legislation which will expedite deportation of undesirable aliens, boarded the Atlantic at quarantine today to learn at first hand the routine through which the immigrants must go.

Every alien landing at Ellis Island should be reported without further evidence than the fact he approves of the L. W. W. or Communist's program, declared Representative Albert Johnson of Washington.

He added that many of the radicals are smuggling their way into this country every twenty-four hours, chiefly from Mexico, while in Japan and Switzerland radicals of all sorts are endeavoring to secure passage here as a fertile field for their endeavors.

S." meaning stand up straight, are among the means being used to remind the pupils of the necessity for proper posture.

ALAMEDA, Nov. 24.—An unusual robbery, in which the victim was beaten on the head with a piece of gas pipe by his alleged roommate and another man, occurred last night at the Panama hotel on Webster street, near the bridge.

Byron W. Price was beaten and robbed in his room by two men. Price accuses his roommate, Fred Thomas, of being one of the two men. Thomas is in custody, being arrested later at the Panama hotel. Price says that the two men demanded "hop" and when refused, beat him with a section of gas pipe. Thomas, on the end with pieces of toweling. U. S. Declared in No Danger From Reds

BERKELEY, Nov. 24.—"The world has not lost confidence in the United States over the rejection of the Paris treaty," asserted Rev. Ralph Baxter Larkin, pastor of North Berkeley Congregational church, yesterday morning, because other nations are beginning to differentiate between congressional action and the spirit of America.

"Swearing in the name of 'Can we be thankful at such a time as this?' Dr. Larkin gave a brief resume of the social and political development in the United States and abroad since the Paris treaty was rejected.

"In one way this has been a year of disappointment, but we should be thankful that we still stand firm in America in the face of the temporary rejection of the League of Nations. For the world distinguishes between the people and the legislation. It knows that in the long run the people will be heard."

Council to Discuss Zone Law Changes

ALAMEDA, Nov. 24.—The city council will meet in adjourned session tomorrow night to take up a number of matters considered at the regular meeting last week but put over for final action. One is the proposed ordinance asked for by Arnold Postel, Park street merchant, the application revoking opposition from Park avenue home owners.

The proposed ordinance prohibiting the parking and maintaining of cars within the city limits, introduced at the last meeting, will come up again for further consideration tomorrow night.

SURPRISE PACKAGE

HAYWARD, Nov. 24.—Rank Gustovich, farmer, is cured of seeking himself a wife through the medium of matrimonial bureaus. Last August he sent his name to a matrimonial bureau in San Francisco. A week later he received a favorable reply from Mrs. August Miller of Los Gatos. An exchange of letters followed, and from the letters Gustovich and Mrs. Miller discovered that Fate and Cupid had meant them for each other. It was arranged for Mrs. Miller to meet her prospective husband in Oakland last night.

Today Gustovich is back on his ranch milking the cows and feeding the chickens. Mrs. Miller has returned to Los Gatos.

Gustovich found Mrs. Miller to be his former wife, who he divorced in 1906. She had remarried and changed her name, having been divorced from her last husband in Oroville in 1916.

Gustovich says he will demand from the matrimonial bureau that his fee of $2 be returned at once.

SAYS RABBIT'S TALK

HAYWARD, Nov. 24.—Vladimir Rolofski, a rabbi, fancier of the place, promises a sensation at the opening of the county rabbit show in the Oakland auditorium on Tuesday, when he will exhibit his famous talking rabbits.

Rolofski speaks seven languages. Several years ago he set about mastering the rabbit language. As a result of long experimentation, he claims to have solved the meaning of various complicated "words" which the animals utter and to have translated it into a dialect. Under certain conditions, he avers, he is able to "talk" back with considerable success.

He will demonstrate the degree to which rabbits and human beings may "talk" at each other intelligently on the opening day of the show.

Revolver Used to Emphasize Remarks

That Emil A. Rumerio, proprietor of a saloon at Fourth and Broadway, did not attempt to murder Liberator Angelosante, one of his customers, but that his gun was discharged when he stamped the weapon on the counter to give emphasis to his refusal not to serve Angelosante with another drink, was the showing of Rumerio's defense today in Police Judge George Sampaio's court. It gained Rumerio liberty.

U. C. TEAM WINS ANNUAL DEBATE

BERKELEY, Nov. 24.—Adding to the laurels won by the University of California football team in Saturday's contest with Stanford, Blue and Gold debaters defeated the Cardinal team in the annual debate of the two universities held Saturday night in Wheeler Auditorium.

Taking the negative side of the question, "Resolved, That Congress should adopt the Plumb Plan of Railroad Control," Californians won the decision of the judges, who consisted of Justice F. M. Angellotti, Justice Curtis D. Wilbur and Judge George B. Crothers. Professor Thos. H. Reed of the University of California's political science department presided.

The spirit of an inter-collegiate contest was manifest throughout the debate. It was not affirmative vs. negative, but Blue and Gold against the Cardinal. Victory was not easily won by California. The teams were well matched and both were determined to win. Decision by the judges was divided, two to one in favor of California.

Stanford was represented by C. O. Fenlason '20, Matt Goldstein '21, and Daniel Goodman '22. California by A. P. Breslau '20, C. C. Hildebrand '21, and J. E. Peyer '21. Dorothy McCullough '21 of California and A. B. Murphy '23 of Stanford were alternates.

Why Is Ill Health?

Many Causes for a Run-Down Condition

One of the Most Common Is Anemia (General Bloodlessness)

"Ill health" is a relative term. Some individuals are terribly and seriously ill, and need the services of the best doctor obtainable. Others are not seriously affected. If your ill health is a result of weak, watery blood (an exceedingly common condition) you can recognize it by the following signs or symptoms:

- 1.—Poor color or real paleness.
- 2.—"Tired-outness" or general weakness.
- 3.—Frequent headaches.
- 4.—Loss of appetite.
- 5.—Loss of spirits and ambition.
- 6.—Loss of bodily strength.

The best remedy is one that will overcome the cause—Anemia or Bloodlessness. "Gude's Pepto-Mangan" is the one peculiarly valuable medicine for this purpose. It supplies the weak, watery blood with the very elements it needs to put new life into the vital fluid (the blood), which carries the good one gets from one's food to all parts of the run-down body. It repairs, re-creates, reinvigorates and rebuilds the exhausted blood, the fountain and foundation of health and life. Try Pepto-Mangan if you are "run-down." It cannot harm you—it will certainly help you.

Seated chronic disease requiring the physician's care. Be sure the name "Gude's" is on the package. Without "Gude's" it is not Pepto-Mangan. For sale at all druggists.—Advertisement.

ELKS SAW WOOD, EAT AND POSE BEFORE CAMERA

ALAMEDA, Nov. 24.—Two hundred Elks took part in the logging, wood-sawing, bull's-head eating event of the Alameda Elks yesterday. The bulls' heads were cooked through the preceding night in two big pits dug in the rear of the clubhouse. The barbecue was ready almost before the wood sawing was finished. Trucks hauled the logs from the log raft in Oakland harbor. Numerous pictures, including a long movie film, were taken of the various events. In fact, so many pictures were taken that some of the Elks who are long on picture taking and short on wood sawing, had a busy time getting into the different picture groups. But still, there were a few workers in the big bunch who antlered ones and the logs were finally conquered.

Lucrezia Bori on BEAUTY

If your hair is thin, or if you think it is falling out, you should remember the value of sunlight and brushing in promoting its growth and beauty.

Two to three hours in the sun, once or twice a week, so that the rays may strike through the roots. Hair is like a plant, and benefits in color and growth from proper exposure to the sun.

Your brushes and combs should be selected with extreme care. Economy is out of place in a hair brush. Cheap brushes are usually poor, with harsh bristles. The expense of your brush should be in its bristles, and not in the back, unless you can afford the highest quality in both.

Soft brushes are required for one head of hair, soft bristles for another. If your hair is extremely thick, the stiff-bristle brush is an advantage. The clusters of bristles should be in slightly uneven lengths. Set in this way they will best penetrate your hair and perform their cleansing and polishing process. Brushing brings faster to your hair.

ART OF COMbing
In washing your brushes use water softened with borax. If the bristles become too limber let the last rinsing water be a very weak solution of alum. Shake the brush without wiping it and let it dry in the sun if possible.

The best combs are of ivory and shell, real or imitation. The indispensable quality of the comb is smoothness and regularity of well-rounded teeth. One split or rough tooth in a comb can do a great deal of damage to your hair by splitting and breaking it.

There is an art in using a comb. In ridding your hair of tangles with a comb you should hold your hair in your left hand, grasping it about halfway down from the roots and lifting it toward your scalp. You should then comb it with your right hand, beginning at the free ends and not at the roots, as many unskilled persons do. By moving your left hand upward until you can no longer get a grasp on your hair, and continuing to comb nearer toward the scalp you will free your hair from tangles without tearing it, pulling it out by the roots or irritating your scalp.

Your brush should not be used until all tangles have been disentangled with your comb, aided by your hands. It need be sometimes it is necessary to work both above and below a tangle, alternately.

A FINE TONIC.
One part of crude oil to one part of olive oil makes a powerful tonic. It is applied with massage. It isn't necessary to use much of this oil at one application.

Necessaries oil has been credited with wonderful hair growing powers. There are various formulas for making this oil, but one long used successfully contains the following:

Oil of almonds—1 pint.
Essence of rose—12 drops.
Oil of clove—9½ grains.
Oil of mace—9½ grains.
Oil of rose—9½ grains.
Oil of cinnamon—1 gramme.

The almond oil is closely powdered, and must be macerated in the warm alcohol oil until it imparts to the oil a deep red color. Then strain and add the other oils.

This oil tonic should be applied to your scalp with only the tips of your fingers. In applying any grease your aim should be to get the grease on your scalp and not on your hair any more than is necessary.

With proper shampooing every two weeks, a nightly brushing, and weekly use of both the tonic and application of a good oil tonic your hair should improve in its luster and growth.

Kitchen Economies

From abroad come many ideas for preparing fish in ways that seem peculiar, but which produce delicious results. Many of the foreign people who use fish in abundance—like the Japanese or the Russians or the Chinese—prepare it in combination with some one starch or rice or potatoes or macaroni, and make of it a complete meal.

Here is a method of preparing fish adapted from the Chinese:

1 cupful of boiled fish
2 cupful of boiled rice
1 cupful of thick white sauce
2 tablespoonfuls of butter
1 tablespoonful of soy sauce (or Worcestershire)
Salt, pepper

Either cod, halibut, salmon or tuna may be used for this dish. Flake the cooked fish, add the rice and other ingredients and mix well. Pour into a greased baking dish, cover with a sprinkling of bread-crumbs and bits of butter, and bake until brown. Soy adds a pleasant flavoring to this dish, and this sauce may be obtained at most of the big grocers.

FISH MEXICANE

3 cupfuls of boiled macaroni

1 large onion

Fry the chopped pepper and onion in the hot bacon fat, then add the tomatoes and seasonings and the boiled macaroni. Spaghetti may be used if preferred. Let simmer for about ten minutes, and finally add the flaked fish. Simmer for five minutes more and serve.

SICCED MACKEREL

Winifred Black's Column

DEAR WINIFRED BLACK:
I am a beautiful young girl of 20 years of age. I am built to perfection with the exception of my feet. My feet are out of proportion altogether. They are so very fat I am ashamed of them. People know me by my feet. My friends call them piano stools and all sorts of embarrassing names.

I cry many a time because it makes me feel so bad. Please, dear Winifred Black, tell me what I can do to reduce them.

I'll expect an answer in one of your articles.
Very truly yours,
S. E. E.

There now! You thought you had troubles, didn't you? Your hair won't stay in curl, and the powder won't stay on your nose, or you weigh a half a pound more than the dressmaker says you must.

You are a blonde, and you heard him say he preferred brunettes. You are tall, and you're in love with a little man.

You are undersized, and tall men hate to dance with you because you make an odd-looking couple. Your nose is too long or too short, or it turns the wrong way up and gives you a comical look, or down and makes you look disconsolate and predatory. Your eyelashes aren't thick enough. They don't form a halo around your eyes as the lashes do in the best sellers.

ARE YOU TROUBLED?
Your sister makes fun of your sweethearts. Your cousin is jealous of you. Your mother makes you dress like a little girl when you are 14 years old and ever so grown up. Your brother is in love with the girl you hate most on earth and won't even look at your best chum. Your father doesn't approve of the modern dances and insists on your going to bed at 10 o'clock, no matter who is there and whenever you go to a party everybody keeps looking at their wrist watches and laughing and you know they mean you.

What are you going to do when you have only one pair of white dancing slippers and people step on them and get them as black as the ground, so they won't ever look right again?

Little hats are in style and you are a fright in anything smaller than a halo. Shall you wear a veil? It's becoming, but they say it makes you look older.

WHAT SHALL SHE DO?
Would you rather look young and plain or older and alluring—you just can't make up your mind.

But just think what you would do if you had feet that people called "piano stools" and all sorts of embarrassing names.

Then, indeed, might you think the world a hollow mockery. Then, indeed, might you wonder how anyone can ever feel like laughing or even smiling from such a vale of tears as this.

And if you were otherwise—absolutely perfect—that would make things worse, wouldn't it?

Built to perfection, with a beautiful face—just think what you could do in the movies, or out of them.

Why, you could be a regular "vamp" and lead men on to destruction, or lure them to madness—but oh, the feet! Isn't it tragedy?

Now, if it was hands, she could wear long sleeves, or wonderful gloves, or something—but feet, and with skirts the length they are now, at that!

Poor, broken-hearted child! It seems to me the only thing she can do will be to forget how strangely beautiful she is and just be kind and gentle and generous and good humored—and perhaps people will forget about both her face and those awful feet.

I can't think of any other way out; honestly, I can't.

Can you?

THE ONE UNION
Honest toil and fair the pay!
United thus must free men stand
To hold the gate and bar the way
To all that would destroy our land.
Above the fortune and the place
Of which too much the wealthy brag.
Now, for the glory of our race,
Must capital esteem our flag!

But one way now all men must take
One path to journey, side by side;
No discord must our courage shake.
No hatred must our strength divide.
The greatest union call to all,
Its fate upon our all await;
Now rich or poor, whatever befall,
Must work for our United States.

Just Folks
by Edgar A. Guest

One for all and all for one!
This was the cry that once we made,
And great the building reared upon
The stones which our forefathers laid.

Our flag lights every sky today,
A symbol of the world's renown,
The beacon of the better way,
Shall selfish creatures tear it down?

Beyond your need for yellow gold,
Above your love for hours of ease,
Oh, toiler at the bench or mold,
Greater than all our strength divide.
There is a trust for you to keep,
A love that's better than them all;
For ages shall your children weep
If now the Starry Flag shall fall.

JEAN ACKER SUCCEEDS
Jean Ackers of the Metro playing staff is now entitled by the marriage laws of California to call herself Mrs. Rodolph Valentino. This is due to a dare marriage, the culmination of a romance in which Valentino was an eager participant and Miss Ackers a willing victim of Cupid's dart. The decision was arrived at while the couple were enjoying a honeymoon ride. Late the same night the marriage ceremony was performed and the wedding bells have been ringing merrily ever since. Intimate friends of the two were witnesses.

Miss Ackers played Daisy in "Lombardi, Ltd." and Mr. Valentino is the young Italian whose ballroom dancing was the rage in New York society four years ago. He has played leading roles in pictures with Dorothy Gish, Irene Phillips and Clara Kimball Young.

CINEMA CLOSE-UPS

And as I gave him Lillian's address I felt again the sense of unreality come over me. Surely this could not be!

A midnight commuting train, city-bound, is an excellent place for reflection, especially if the soul communion be of the savage, self-scoring variety. The one which I boarded at Stonevale Centre afforded an unusual opportunity for solitude. In the whole brilliantly lighted car into which Captain Grantland bowed me there were but two passengers, both middle-aged men, evidently commercial travelers deeply engaged in the inevitable arithmetical calculations of their craft.

Neither of them looked up as I entered, and selecting a seat well to the back of the car I huddled into a corner of it and faced questions which could no longer be put off.

What was the fascination which Capt. Grantland's personality undeniably had for me? Was there anything in the attraction I felt for him which implied a wrong in thought to Lucky?

That Dicky would be fiercely angry, with the jealous, white heat of temper I knew so well, if he should even remotely guess my admiration for Capt. Grantland, I well knew, but would his anger be justified?

I tried to convince myself that it would not, that my husband as well as I owed the distinguished army officer both gratitude and admiration for the signal service he had rendered me. But whatever my other faults I am innately honest of soul, and the sophistry with which I tried to blind myself failed utterly.

For I could not help putting the whole thing to an inward simple test. I asked my soul fairly and squarely if the conditions were reversed—if it were some brave Red Cross nurse with a romantic history for Capt. Grantland, I well knew, but would his anger be justified?

The answer was like a salutary ice cold shower on my fevered brain. I realized that my anger and jealousy, while not so fiery and flamboyant as Dicky's would be just as intense.

I realized something else also—and with relief—that underneath this superficial, romantic feeling which was having its way with me, my love for Dicky beat just as strongly as ever.

Then, because my head almost always rules my heart, I set to work to analyze the reasons for my feeling. I could call it nothing less, which had swayed me during the last few days.

I set upon Dicky mentally like so many steps in a demoniacal dance. First, I had never before met any one like Capt. Grantland. His personality was sufficient excuse for part of the feeling I had experienced.

Second, he had saved me, first from amputation, then from death, in most dramatic fashion. The hospital he had depended upon me to help him, thus arousing my romantic sympathy.

Third—and I flushed even in the solitude of the car at this thought—I could not help seeing that Capt. Grantland was—was the least—not indifferent to my beauty. I was flattered by this, with a familiar throb of pain. I recognized as the most potent factor in the whole affair—if it had not been for the unconscious contrast I had drawn between Dicky's attitude toward the world and that of this hero of the struggle my heart and imagination would never have become infatuated with the romantic adoration which has always been mine for my husband.

Suppose Dicky had had only a tithe of this other man's honors and experience in his heart, but none so quickly at the thought. I could see how my love for him would have been intensified into blind rapturous adoration, with no room in my heart for even a passing thought toward any other hero.

But Dicky had failed me, himself and his country. The bitter truth came over me anew, and I shivered, although the summer night was balmy.

"Janiene! All change for Tennessee station, Mr. Brooklyn!" called the conductor, and I mechanically made my way to the platform and into the other car.

Luckily for my peace of mind, I was fast lapsing into one of my mottos, "Good-bye, 'moods'!" This car was fairly well filled with noisy people, and I resolved to put firmly beneath my feet for the time being all self-analysis.

"After all," I thought grimly to myself, as I settled into my seat, "no matter what my feeling for Capt. Grantland, or what Dicky thinks about it, it can't equal the unhappiness he has given me."

A GOOD SAILOR.
Mabel Julie Scott, who is playing the feminine lead in the Lasky production of Jack London's "Sea Wolf," has earned the praise and the plaudits of her associates by the superb nerve she displayed while being filmed on board a "rocking boat" outside the Farallones. Although she admits the ocean taught her several things she didn't know before, she is not averse to repeating the ocean experience.

Just the same," says Miss Scott, "I don't always want to be an outdoor girl. I feel that I should be limiting my versatility if I remained faithful to one type of character. I think many of the actresses of the screen are doing this, and I am sure the public simply by allowing familiarity to breed contempt for them in one kind of portrayal."

TEMPLE SINAL

At the Temple Sinal, Friday evening assembly, Rabbi Franklin spoke on the subject of "California and the Spirit of the West," the talk being illustrated by pictures taken by Rabbi Franklin in the national forests during a recent trip as the guest of the forest rangers.

"The West is the home of democracy. The love of justice and fair play and rigid adherence to the policy of open honesty, the right to an intense desire for 'show me' spirit of the West."

He also pointed out the fact that what we know as the Western spirit is in close touch with the ethical and the great material progress we have made by using our creative genius to make over the educational institutions inherited from the East by making them freer and broader through the Western spirit.

FIRST METHODIST EPISCOPAL

The last of the series of sermons on "The Foundations of Faith" was given yesterday morning by the Rev. John Stephens at the First Methodist Episcopal Church. The subject of yesterday's sermon was "The Resurrection of the Body and the Life Everlasting."

In the evening a special Thanksgiving service was held, the topic being "Lights and Shadows." A special Thanksgiving sunrise prayer will be held Thursday morning by the Epworth League, to be followed by a breakfast and a short hike.

PIONEER METHODIST

At the Pioneer Methodist Church the Rev. Harold Govette preached his Thanksgiving sermon yesterday morning. He emphasized the strength of the church as a factor in the uplift of the race and expressed thanks for the return of such a large proportion of the boys in the service, unharmed by shot or shell.

PLYMOUTH CONGREGATIONAL

A Christian co-operation and an application of Christian principles and ideals, are the solution of the industrial question suggested by the Rev. Charles Luther Kiers at his sermon at the Plymouth Congregational church yesterday evening.

Profit-sharing, he said, "is a final solution, but merely the beginning of a better understanding of the problems of capital and labor. The secret of a situation lies in co-operation. This is the only way to save this country from civil war."

The subject of his sermon was "A Reconstructive Program—Experi-

Americanism Is Favorite Pulpit Topic

"The Grateful Heart" was the subject of a sermon yesterday at the First Christian church by the Rev. H. A. Van Winkle, in which punishment for the assassins of Centralia's service men was urged, and the congregation was asked to give the unrecognized heroes of the war more credit for their sacrifices.

"Breaching or beheading" are the alternatives suggested by Rev. Van Winkle as just punishment for the Armistice Day assassins and others of the same sympathies. By breaching he referred to the method of hanging by the neck of a man and horsewhipping them. "Beheading," he explained, referred to deportation for all the committers of "evil deeds" claiming to be Americans but hailing from foreign shores. "When they should be rejoicing in thanksgiving for the great benefits accruing from the sacrifices of these men, they assail not only individuals, but America and the civilized world as well," he remarked.

FIRST BAPTIST

That we should express our thanks to the church in a practical and material way by giving of our capital to spread the spirit of Americanism throughout the civilized world, was the subject of a sermon by the Rev. William Keeney Towner in the First Baptist church yesterday.

There is a surplus capital to further the spread of Americanism throughout the country and extend its spirit to the rest of the civilized world. Express your thanks in dollars and cents instead of merely offering verbal gratitude to the Almighty," Rev. Towner said.

"The fact that America escaped the terrible destruction of the European continent is due to the fact," he said, "is no justification for Americanism overlooking the opportunity for engaging in reconstruction work. There is a better use for your money than buying Golden Rule buildings and laying in more real estate," he continued. "Use what capital you can afford to suppress the evils of drink and crime, and the evils of the state, church and society."

At the Thanksgiving sermon at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning the Rev. Frank M. Silsley said: "God is deeply concerned with America at this Thanksgiving. It would be a disgrace for America not to accept world leadership, but it is certainly not the divine path."

"The American commonwealth was founded by men who feared God, who had reverence for the laws of God. The moral tone of the constitution is the people of the Sermon on the Mount."

The next people of the Sermon on the Mount are those who are looking to America for their only hope. Because of this, the Rev. Silsley said, "our policy of the national heritage is taking the responsibility of leading other nations."

He especially deplored the failure of the league nations pact and said that America will be judged again when she repents of the failure to accept responsibility and sees her duty to join a league of nations for the peace of the world."

BROOKLYN PRESBYTERIAN

That the "good sense and far-sighted judgment of our representatives in Congress will be soundly and securely through the troubled times" of today, is the opinion expressed by the Rev. Howard L. Kerr in his sermon in the Brooklyn Presbyterian church yesterday morning.

The determination of the people of the United States is now united by stronger bonds than ever before against foreign radicalism, Bolshevism and I. W. Wism, the Rev. Kerr said.

NOTHING BUT NONSENSE

Arthur West contributes nothing but nonsense, but this nonsense has received proof that Puck was right. Lucille Smith plays a piano while West chatters, and she sings one time he is off the stage. There is a time when this nonsense might be consigned to good effect.

Ralph Kitter and Jim Reaney in "An Ocean Episode" present themselves as a comedy duo. They repeat do their part to remove the halo from some of the things that used to be in the to-be-revered-class of things once acceptable singing in the act.

The comedy film is a Christie conception, the orchestral selections are good as usual. The news is told by Puck and the woman who goes to the theater with the writer of this press by Lillian Shaw should be suppressed by those who are striving to bring to the stage a new and better kind of entertainment.

Belvedere, Ill.—My daughter was so weak and run-down that she had fainting spells and headaches. My doctor recommended Vinol, and the result was that her health and strength were built up very quickly by its use, and I hope my statement will convince other mothers of what Vinol will do for their little ones who are weak, run-down or delicate.—MRS. Matrimony Given Temble Wallop By Comedienne

Heaven, Hell, Matrimony, a bed-room and several other well-known subjects of the vaudeville audience furnished the inspiration for the various "acts" on the bill this week at the Oakland Orpheum. Said inspiration found its opportunity for expression in vehicles as varied as the institutions, and double entendre, frank assertion and emphatic physical appeal lent able assistance in "putting across" the messages brought to the vaudeville devotee by women, men and mixed ensembles. When it comes to vaudeville, there are many strange things about vaudeville performers and about vaudeville audiences, and one of the strangest is the fact that on the stage and in the body of the house there appears to be a psychic accord when it comes to the subject of matrimony. Formerly were considered sacred and intimate, and are supposed to be so considered even in this day and age. But if one is to formulate judgment on what happens in the Orpheum, the dope is all wrong, for situations that might have been snuffed out by the vaudeville audience were treated scandalously and the treatment was received puerally.

MATIMONY GETS WALLOP

Take Lillian Shaw for instance. Lillian is billed as a vocal dialogue comedienne, and she is all of that.

She was formerly a member of the vaudeville troupe from her, and the applause was loud and vociferous. It is then, to be considered that matrimony is a lot of fun, so she speaks to the audience. There is much potent in her for a lot of married persons appeared friendly enough when they wandered forward, and the evident intentions of those who were married appeared to have been unchanged.

Harry Grant in "George Washington" utilized heaven and hell to bring his comedy upon. Also he became real Sunday school bookie in pointing to the reward that bookie has for the Golden Rule brings to the observer. There are more laughs than sobs to the act, which shows a canny sort of talent in playing on the less subtle emotions.

"The Man Hunt," featuring Isolda Hillan, is staged in a bedroom. The others of the cast are good, and the comedy is not obviously risqué lines. Woman's nastiness over man when it comes to accomplish a thing might be considered the motif, providing one sees a motif for a vaudeville act. Anyway some ideas in feminine humor can be found by the women folk.

Princess Judith goes back to Cleopatra and her love for Mark Anthony to find her instrument for playing on the emotions of her audience. She does it wonderfully well, calling upon every power of a body as wonderfully powerful as is the voice of a woman.

In her second dance she shows that strength and grace can be combined in an act, and she goes through a dance that would be difficult to most professionals in customary conditions.

Nothing but a comedy juggler who does marvelous things with articles that are found around most any home. It is funny, and the audience is kept in a wonderful state of mind while he is on the stage.

Arthur West contributes nothing but nonsense, but this nonsense has received proof that Puck was right. Lucille Smith plays a piano while West chatters, and she sings one time he is off the stage. There is a time when this nonsense might be consigned to good effect.

Ralph Kitter and Jim Reaney in "An Ocean Episode" present themselves as a comedy duo. They repeat do their part to remove the halo from some of the things that used to be in the to-be-revered-class of things once acceptable singing in the act.

The comedy film is a Christie conception, the orchestral selections are good as usual. The news is told by Puck and the woman who goes to the theater with the writer of this press by Lillian Shaw should be suppressed by those who are striving to bring to the stage a new and better kind of entertainment.

EX-SENATOR BELSHAW, THREE OTHERS KILLED

CAR PLUNGES 700 FEET TO CANYON BED

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Double funeral services will be held at Natividad hall, 430 Mason St., San Francisco, at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon over the remains of Charles Belshaw, former state senator and capitalist, and his wife, Mrs. Belshaw, who were killed yesterday afternoon when Belshaw's automobile ran over the grade at Pedro mountain, south of here.

The ceremony at the chapel will be conducted by the Rev. Charles Miel, of the Episcopal church. A special musical program will be rendered by the Knickerbocker quartette. At the conclusion of the services the bodies will be taken to Cypress Lawn cemetery for cremation. The disposal of the ashes will be made by Henry W. Spencer, 408 Orange street, Oakland, son of Mrs. Belshaw, who is in charge of all funeral arrangements.

SHIP BODIES TO SPOKANE.
The bodies of J. D. Sherwood, Spokane capitalist, and Mrs. Sherwood, who also were killed in yesterday's tragedy, it is believed, will be sent to Spokane where they resided, for burial. Relatives of the Sherwoods announced that definite plans would be decided upon later.

INVESTIGATION MADE.
Investigation by the authorities of the fatal accident began today with the questioning of H. E. Brandt, 622 Fulton street, whose car is said to have collided with that in which the four were riding. The others killed were Mrs. Belshaw and Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Sherwood of Spokane.

W. T. Hess, an attorney, was a witness, who said he saw the collision of the two machines. Brandt remained to assist the others in recovering the bodies of those killed. He said he sounded his horn on the curve where the collision appeared, but did not see the larger car until it was upon him. He was driving Ford before Sherwood died he made this statement:

"As we reached the top of the grade a Ford approached. The light car began acting strangely as if its steering gear had given way. It appeared to be in the hands of a novice. Belshaw, who was driving, tried to avoid a collision, but could not. The other machine hit us and sent us over the edge."

CAR FALLS 700 FEET.
Rolling and falling, the death car rested at last on the floor of the canyon 700 feet below. The two women were instantly killed. Belshaw died in the arms of a soldier who was supporting him in an automobile as it rushed toward this city. Sherwood was taken to the South City General hospital and died there of internal injuries at 7 o'clock last evening, four hours after the accident.

Where they left the St. Francis hotel, where they had apartments, in the early afternoon for a ride to Halfmoon Bay. They were southbound at the time of the accident. The heavy touring car in which they were riding was a mass of wreckage and debris when Hess and others reached it. The two women were dead. Mrs. Belshaw lying on

WHIST PARTY BENEFIT.
All arrangements have been completed for a whist party to be given for the benefit of St. Leo's parish, at Fulton Court hall, tomorrow evening. Following committee is in charge: Mrs. M. Waters, Mrs. J. E. Bray, Mrs. H. C. Brown, Hubert J. Quinn, and Brother F. Hardy, J. R. Kelly and Bart Connolly.

considerable distance from the car. Belshaw was unconscious. Sherwood was conscious but in extreme pain. The 700-foot drop was almost, but not quite, perpendicular. Eye witnesses saw the car roll over several times before it struck the bottom.

Both as an investor and politician, Belshaw had long been well known throughout the state. He was actively engaged in politics for more than a quarter century, serving in both houses of the legislature and running for governor against Hiram Johnson in 1914. He had also been on the State board of prison directors. His home was at Antioch, Contra Costa county. Mrs. Belshaw was formerly Mrs. Maud E. Spencer of Oakland. They had been married four years. His first wife ended her life in 1914 after a long period of illness. He was 58 years of age, a native of this state.

RED CROSS WORKER.
SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 21.—Mrs. J. D. Sherwood, killed in an automobile accident here, was a prominent leader in the local chapter of the American Red Cross.

Sherwood came west shortly after graduating from Harvard in the class of 1893. Since that time he has been active in the business and civic affairs of the city. He is an extensive realty holder and is the owner of the Sherwood block here. He was one of the original incorporators of the Washington Water Power company in 1899 and a director of the company for many years. He is at present a director in the Spokane and Eastern Trust company, a member of the Chamber of Commerce, the Spokane club, County club and the University club. His parents were pioneers of San Francisco. His mother and two brothers now live in New York, his father having died some years ago.

HELD AS INCENDIARY.
Charged with having set fire to an outbuilding at the Guadalupe mines, Frank Panda, a Spaniard, is held by the police here, the charge having been filed by H. C. Davis, one of the mine officials. Panda was arrested here January 20, 1917, charged with having shot B. Rodriguez during a fight. He served one year in Folsom.

EIGHT INJURED IN ACCIDENTS HERE SUNDAY

Eight Oakland persons are in more or less serious condition today as a result of Sunday automobile accidents. With the exception of an accident near San Jose, all of the mishaps occurred in this city. Mrs. Annie Spitz of 1903 Sixteenth avenue, J. W. Price of 1184 Seventeenth avenue and William Davidson of 59 Tenth street are most seriously hurt.

The others injured were Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Anderson and child and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Gustafson, all of 107 Poplar street. The machine in which they were driving from this city to San Jose overturned. Anderson has a broken collar bone and Gustafson several broken ribs. Others in the party escaped with bruises.

SWERVED OFF ROAD.
Anderson says he was driving the car when he sighted another machine coming toward the highway along a cross road. He swerved to the side to avoid a collision and his car went over, burying all of its occupants beneath. The man in the other machine viewed the wreck for a moment and then drove away. His name was not learned. Anderson and Gustafson were taken to the Columbia Hospital at San Jose.

Mrs. Spitz, it is feared, may die. She was riding with her husband and other members of her family when the machine collided with another at Nineteenth and Broadway. The members of her party escaped but little hurt. Mrs. Spitz suffered serious internal injuries. A. C. Jensen of 1412 Hewes street drove the other car.

KNOCKED FROM BICYCLE.
Price was riding a bicycle at Sixteenth avenue and East Fourteenth street when he was struck by an automobile driven by L. W. Mason of 3709 Thirty-fifth street. It is believed his skull was fractured. A similar injury was sustained by Davidson, who was knocked down by an automobile which M. Martin of 1523 Elmwood street was driving.

Across the bay also Sunday registered a heavy toll of automobile accidents. Twenty-second street, San Francisco, may die and others in his machine with him were hurt when it collided with a car driven by Carl Kilgus, Olympic clubman, on Potrero avenue. Kilgus, subsequently was arrested for battery. Nine other persons were hurt in other San Francisco automobile accidents during the day.

Antonio Fernandez of 691 Sixth street was driving an auto that leaped over the curb on San Pablo avenue, near Fifty-ninth street, in a spectacular manner and crashed into a house under construction. The driver suddenly lost control. The machine swerved, while going at a brisk rate of speed, and went over the curb. The front wheel of the machine was torn off. Fernandez was not hurt.

CILIAN ENVOY AT HOME.
RIO JANEIRO, Sunday, Nov. 23.—Rodero Yanez, head of the Chilean diplomatic and commercial mission to the United States and European countries, arrived today from Europe. He expressed the opinion that prohibition of the entry of anarchists and other radicals to South American countries should not be delayed.

FEDERATION PLANNED TO BATTLE H.C.L.

The first steps toward a federation of the Housewives' Leagues in the various cities about the bay looking toward a concerted fight on the high costs of food necessities is being taken this week. With Oakland efficiently organized with a charter membership of more than 100 women and the lists growing daily; with Berkeley women having achieved in keeping to the old price all bread which comes into the city; with Alameda ready to announce the date of a preliminary mass meeting looking toward forming a league of home buyers and with San Francisco housewives under the leadership of Mrs. Annette Adams, United States District Attorney, called to a general conference tomorrow afternoon in the supervisors' chambers for the purpose of forming a league, the consumers who are the actual purchasers will line up in solid ranks to combat profiteering in necessities.

The several leagues are agreed that they will form a central body to act as clearing house to the various auxiliaries and to lend the strength of their purpose. The federation of the housewives in the adjacent cities is considered the most important step in the development of the housewives' movement.

Several scores of Oakland housewives met in the council chambers of the city hall at 2 o'clock this afternoon to discuss the high costs of certain foodstuffs and to go into the situation of continued rise. E. S. Hogan, executive secretary of the Retail Grocers' Association of Alameda county, and Dr. Beth Northington, vice-president of the league, were among the speakers. An invitation was extended to Miss Jessie Haver of Washington, D. C., representing the National Consumers' League, who is in California as a member of the Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt party, to join the conference today.

Mrs. L. C. Grusser, president, presided as chairman. Representatives of the Berkeley League joined in the open forum which developed some facts of interest to the housewives.

Council Urged To Raise Ban Barring Cows

Advising the lifting of restrictions to allow people to keep milk cows as a blow against the advancing cost of milk, Commissioner of Revenue and Finance W. H. Edwards this morning brought conditions caused by the high cost of living before the city council in a communication urging the council to assist the efforts of the Housewives' League to curb profiteering and asking citizens to cooperate in the campaign against the high cost of living.

That milk prices have advanced to an unwarranted figure, while at the same time the sloughs at Holt, the clearing station for the milk association, are running white with wasted milk, was the charge made by Commissioner Edwards in his statement to the council, in which he urged the members to attend a meeting of the Housewives' League in the city hall today and lend their efforts to stop profiteering.

The commissioner also advanced the suggestion that the council take steps to establish an information bureau on poultry raising for citizens.

In advising the lifting of restrictions so that citizens may keep milk cows, Edwards said: "This would result in the local milk trust being defeated and cause a cessation of thousands of gallons of milk being poured into the waterways and result in the price of milk reaching a normal point."

Oakland Youth's Body Found Near Riverside
From Riverside word came last night that the skeleton of a man was found in the hills five miles from there with a card in the clothing bearing the name of John Olsen, 540 Twenty-eighth street, Oakland. Death apparently came through suicide, a revolver being found near by and a bullet hole in the skull, showing the manner of death.

Olsen lived at the address given on the card some time ago, and it is believed that the body is that of a young man with whom he was friendly who went to Southern California hoping to recover from tuberculosis.

DAZED WOMAN
LOCATES HOME
AND CHILDREN
With the aid of the Alameda police, Mrs. Barbara Krissel this morning located the house at which she was attending a party last night and where her two children were awaiting the return of the mother who had gone out to purchase ice cream for the party. The house was at 921 Lincoln avenue, near the corner of Oak and Santa Clara streets where the police found her last night.

Without wraps or hat, Mrs. Krissel, who is an attractive young woman of San Francisco, was found leaning against a telephone pole near the Mastick station. Last night the police searched for the Alameda home where the party was being held and the home in San Francisco where Mrs. Krissel, in very broken English, gave the police to understand that her twelve-year-old daughter was caring for a six-months-old baby, eluded all efforts of the police of the two cities. Mrs. Krissel had given 273 1/2 Clara street as her home address, but it was ascertained that she had not lived there for some time.

This morning Detective William Walmuth took her to the Mastick station and there helped her locate the house she left shortly before midnight, stylishly clad in a green silk dress offering little protection from the cold of the night.

CALIFORNIA FOOTBALL TEAM LEAVES FOR SEATTLE TO PLAY UNIVERSITY OF WASHINGTON

OL' HENRY HOOCH---He Should Have Seen an Undertaker By Rod

FOOTBALL FANS ARE GLAD BIG GAME HAS BECOME ANNUAL EVENT

By BOB SHAND.
If Stanford can hold California to a 14 to 10 score in the Cardinal's first year at American football what will the athletes from Palo Alto do next season when they meet the Blue and Gold at Berkeley? This is the question that should be worrying Andy Smith & Co. this bright Monday morning. The well oiled machine of Berkeley was shoved back time and time again by the supposed novices on the Cardinal squad and the game finished with the ball perilously close to the Californian goal. Stanford showed wonderful grit and determination under adverse circumstances. They played earnestly, even desperately at times and they never wavered even when Denny Wells was on one of his bull-like rampages. No one is ever going to question the fighting spirit of California, but there seems to be no other fight at Palo Alto than at Berkeley.

The rugby players on the Stanford squad disappointed a lot of people from the vicinity of the Big C. when they refused to adopt rugby tactics. Some of the Berkeley backers bet on the supposition that in the heat of battle some of the Stanford stars would resort to the tactics of the English game. In spots perhaps Stanford did this little thing but then it was a player grabbed the ball and ran like blazes. The rugby players are elusive. Some of the Stanford backs were worse than that Saturday. When Dink Templeton kicked the ball through the posts in the first quarter of the game a lot of money changed hands. There was a lot of wagering on which side would score first and there were also some bets made that Templeton would attempt such a kick at some time during the game. This was the stunt that Bob Evans, the Stanford coach had up his sleeve and it succeeded admirably.

THANKSGIVING GAME WILL BE DECIDING OF COAST CONFERENCE

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, Nov. 24.—The California varsity, some twenty-five strong and accompanied by head coach Andy Smith, boarded the rattler at 9 o'clock last night on their way to Seattle, where they clash with the University of Washington eleven on Thanksgiving Day in what is the decisive game of the coast conference. The entire team were in wonderful condition, considering the hard game they had been through against Stanford Saturday and were enthusiastic over their prospects against the Purple and Gold.

Washington has one of the strongest eleven of the coast and it has narrowed down to a hard game between California and Washington for the coast championship, and the honor of the Pacific Northwest. The Bears failed to display the variety of play that they showed in their game with Stanford. Right now, the Bears are considered the Blue and Gold have an equal chance of beating the Purple and Gold charges of Coach Hays. If they get together Thursday, California is not overconfident, they have no victory over Washington State, the only team that has been able to slip over the top of the coast. The Bears are making following so close on the heels of their game against the Cardinal, that they are not sure of the man and it is going to make California use every power at her command to defeat Washington. There is a possibility that California will come out on top. The two teams stacked up evenly on paper. Neither has any decided advantage in weight, but experience is at a par and the two have a lot of proven material.

There is a word of explanation needed to clear up the rumors that were going around after the game. The Bears did not play well in the game. The Bears did not play well in the game. The Bears did not play well in the game.

Stanford Axe In Possession Of California

By DOUG MONTELL.
The Big Game is over. All that remains now are memories. California still celebrating the victory of her team, Stanford still acclaiming her team for the wonderful fight they put up. Stanford's team has much credit due it for their fight of Saturday. The Cardinal's team made an uphill fight such as is seldom seen. One thing is distinctly characteristic of Stanford's being shut out. Too much credit cannot be given a team that keeps up the fight when it appears hopeless.

Saturday saw the Stanford team fight to the last ditch, but it was the Stanford student body who won the game. Stanford adopted their symbol Saturday that was to be emblematic of their fighting spirit. Rather to say, they readopted a symbol for Stanford gave up the flag as the original axe and adopted the red axe for a Stanford symbol. Every since that time it has been in the possession of the Blue and Gold. The California students obtained possession of the axe some 21 years ago and ever since that time it has remained in the possession of the Blue and Gold.

THE ORIGINAL AXE
In adopting a symbol, the original of which still remains in the hands of the victor, is a tradition that is not to be broken. Stanford is not in the habit of giving up, but in just ignoring the fact that California still possesses their symbol, the original axe, and going ahead after 21 years of endeavor to recover it and now coming out with a new one is to destroy one of the keystone sources of rivalry between the two institutions. Stanford might well have red axed made by the whole school and every time California steals one bring out another. In this way Stanford perpetually have the axe as her symbol and California would have a vault full of red axed.

CALDERA, GILLESPIE UNABLE TO STOP WASHERS' HITTING

Great Fielding by Harold Boyd Helps Fans to Forget Poor Playing by Tractors
By EDDIE MURPHY.
"Seacap" Christensen and Vernon Oeschger of the C. L. Best Tractors' baseball team were a couple of tired outfielders when they beat it for the showers after the Tractors and Crystal Laundry team finished their game which was the most exciting to be witnessed on San Leandro lot since the start of The TRIBUNE league season. The Crystals landed on the shoots of pitchers Gene Caldera and Johnny Gillespie of the Tractors for a 7 to 5 win, pulling the Tractors from the top rung to which they had a hold since the start of the season. The Crystals piled up thirteen hits, most of them being out in the territory covered by Christensen and Oeschger, and every kind of a hit was registered, singles, doubles, triples and a homer.

It was a fighting ball game from start to finish, being played by a team that had been through a big third inning rally by the Crystals, four wonderful fielding plays by Harold Boyd of the Tractors. The Tractors helped to make the game one of the heaviest hitting ones of the season by bumping Emerson McNally, the youthful Crystal pitcher from the mound, only to have the veteran Fodder Dolan step into the box in the seventh inning to save the game for the Crystals. In that third inning, the Tractors played their poorest ball of the season. McNally, the youthful Crystal pitcher from the mound, only to have the veteran Fodder Dolan step into the box in the seventh inning to save the game for the Crystals. In that third inning, the Tractors played their poorest ball of the season. McNally, the youthful Crystal pitcher from the mound, only to have the veteran Fodder Dolan step into the box in the seventh inning to save the game for the Crystals.

Crystals Gave Horsehide Some Real Joy Rides.
But it was not all loose playing on the part of the Tractors, that won the game for the Crystals, as some of the best fielding was shown by the horsehide. The best fielding in the country would have been unable to halt the joyride of the little boys. The Tractors had spotted Gene Caldera a three run lead by some timely hitting in the second inning, and the Crystals showed the best fielding in the country. The best fielding in the country would have been unable to halt the joyride of the little boys. The Tractors had spotted Gene Caldera a three run lead by some timely hitting in the second inning, and the Crystals showed the best fielding in the country.

Johnny Gillespie Called To Stop Bombardment.
After he disposed of Tifer on a bouncer to Cardozo, Caldera showed the first sign of "blowing" by hitting McNally with a hard ball. McNally was hit in the chest and was unable to play. Gillespie came in to replace Caldera and he was able to stop the bombardment. McNally was hit in the chest and was unable to play. Gillespie came in to replace Caldera and he was able to stop the bombardment.

Tractors Lose Run by Poor Base Running.
An infield hit to short by Cardozo and Valla being safe at first when McNally's throw was too late to catch Cardozo, seemed on Felder's choice, brought the Seacap fiasco to their feet, as there were more out at the time. When signals got crossed on the infield, and Oeschger called to take a cut at the ball, Cardozo was thrown out at third by Tifer. The Tractors lost the run by poor base running. Union Iron Surprised by Barbarians

Hope that the Union Iron Works soccer team would not walk away with the California Football League championship for this season, were raised yesterday afternoon when at the eighth and Market streets field in San Francisco, the Barbarians defeated them by a 2 to 1 tie, while the Thistles crept up on the leaders by defeating the Burns at Ocean Shore grounds by 3 goals to 1.

The result of the Barbarians' victory was a surprise to many of the fans who had been expecting a close game. The Barbarians have been the best team in the league all season and knocking their opponent out was a great feat. MELROSE BUNCH HIT TO BEAT REDMEN

The Melrose Merchants climbed to within a step of the first division in the Class B league by defeating the Richmond Redmen at the Melrose diamond by a score of 10 to 6. The Redmen landed on the shoots of Welsh and Klein for thirteen hits, but the hits were not as timely as those by the Merchants. Jack McKensie, Drew and Corbett were the heavy hitters for the Merchants. Pinkerton was in the box for the Redmen. Martin of the losers hit a three-bagger when the bases were full. O'Brien of the Redmen landed three hits.

The Redmen took a five-run lead in the first three innings, but the Merchants got to Pinkerton for five runs in the fourth inning and clinched the game in the fifth with three more runs.

Peacocks Keep Lead by Defeat Of Allendale

Fans at the Allendale ball grounds were treated to a real pitching duel when Kersten for the Peacock Autos and Lane Shultis for the Allendale Merchants took the mound in a game that resulted in a 2 to 0 win for the Peacock Autos who are leading the league in the class B division.

Kersten held the Merchants to four hits, but the big hero of the contest was Begier, the Peacocks' left fielder, who hit the ball for a triple that scored Barba and Lunge with the score 2-0. Constructors Give Scare To Clothiers

By MAURY PESSANO.

The Union Construction baseball club made its appearance before the Alameda fans yesterday afternoon at Lincoln park against the Halton-Didiers of that city, but returned home with a 5 to 4 defeat tacked to them, their seventh straight beating in the Oakland TRIBUNE league. The chances of winning the TRIBUNE pennant by the Union Construction club are about gone, but Red Powers' boys are going to be trouble makers to the leaders in the league.

They never gave in to the Halton-Didiers for with the score 4 to 0 against them they showed their fighting spirit, and tied the score only to lose the battle. Although the crowd that was out to the game yesterday was not as large as that of last Sunday, the standers were well housed, and every one of the fans left the ball park well pleased with the brand of ball that the Halton-Didiers and the Union Construction clubs played.

STRENGTHENING IN BOX.

Babe Danzig, the big right-handed pitcher for the Halton-Didiers, took a day off, and sat on the bench while Big Alton Stengrafe, the prominent left-handed pitcher, worked against the Constructors. Stengrafe pitched another good game of ball, for the Halton-Didiers, since the opening of the league, and like in the one that he pitched yesterday, he was not as large as that of last Sunday, the standers were well housed, and every one of the fans left the ball park well pleased with the brand of ball that the Halton-Didiers and the Union Construction clubs played.

JOHN'S HITTING FEATURE.

The Alameda boys did not lose any time in scoring a couple of runs, for after Stengrafe got by the first inning without allowing a run, his team mates scored two runs on four clean drives. Joe John, for the Constructors, found his hitting stride in this game, and was a dangerous man every time he stepped to the plate.
